Programs and Services

Counseling

Counseling is core to what we do. All of our professional oncology social workers hold a master's degree and can:

- Provide cancer-focused support
- Help reduce feelings of anxiety and distress
- Help increase feelings of hope and empowerment
- Assist in learning new ways of coping
- Help improve communication between the patient, loved ones and medical team
- Provide practical information about treatment
- Provide resources in the community

Counseling is available over the telephone, virtually or in-person for residents of New York and New Jersey.

CancerCare Resource Navigation

Oncology social workers offer individualized and professional guidance to help people living with cancer, post-treatment survivors and caregivers address barriers to care. CancerCare Resource Navigation is available over the telephone nationally.

Live Support Groups

Live support groups led by CancerCare oncology social workers are available at our offices in New York City, Long Island and New Jersey. Due to public health concerns, live support groups are being held virtually for residents of New York and New Jersey at this time. Outside of these areas, CancerCare can help clients find local support groups in their communities.

Online Support Groups

Our password-protected online support groups are led by professional oncology social workers. Members must go through a registration process, after which they can participate 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Online support groups are available nationally.

Connect Education Workshops

Connect Education Workshops offer the latest information from leading oncology experts over the phone or online. Like all of CancerCare's services, these one-hour workshops are completely free of charge—no phone charges apply. Registrants can listen in live over the phone or online as a webcast.
