Millions of people have been able to enroll for health care coverage through the Affordable Care Act (ACA). Explore your health plan coverage options through the Health Insurance Marketplace website, HealthCare.gov. There are special enrollment periods based on certain qualifying events including marriage or loss of other health coverage.

KEY FEATURES OF THE AFFORDABLE CARE ACT:

- People with pre-existing conditions, including cancer, can buy health insurance through online insurance Exchanges, also known as Marketplaces. Exchanges allow you to compare plans by benefits, price, provider participation and pharmaceutical coverage.

- Health plans must cover essential health benefits including cancer treatment and follow-up care.

- Health plans must also cover check-ups and preventative services (e.g., cancer screenings, including mammograms and colonoscopies), and there are no co-payment or deductible costs. If you’ve had a history of cancer, these tests may be considered diagnostic, not preventative, and you may be responsible for the cost. Please check with your insurer.

- U.S. citizens and legal residents are required by law to have health insurance as of January 1, 2014. People who do not will have to pay a fee (tax penalty). Certain limited exceptions apply.

- Health plans on the Exchanges are grouped by the percentage of your medical costs they cover and are divided into four tiers—platinum, gold, silver and bronze.

- Individuals and families with low to moderate incomes can receive help (known as subsidies) to purchase health insurance. The Kaiser Family Foundation offers a subsidy calculator.

- Young adults can stay on their parent’s insurance plan until age 26.

- Insurance companies cannot deny coverage to people based on their medical history or charge people who have existing health issues more.

- Insurance companies can no longer end coverage or impose lifetime or annual dollar limits on coverage because a person gets sick.

- Insurance companies are required to provide more details about their health care plans.

- Health care plans on the Exchanges limit the out-of-pocket costs and deductibles for patients.

- New rules and rights exist to help patients appeal claims that are denied.
With an uncertain future for the Affordable Care Act, people affected by cancer are understandably concerned. It’s important to stay informed and share feedback and personal experiences with elected officials. Here are resources that can help:
